Summary

The project's topic is the intercultural learning in a unique way. In our program the participants' job is not to present their own country, but to present another participant country's culture. The multicultural learning's aim is that the youngsters learn to handle the diversity and the difference they can experience in communities, and develop such skills that support the cooperation with different cultures and cultural groups. We think that multicultural learning is the essence of the adaptation process; it's the catalyst of the creativity. Our project's aim is to make the people in the European Union able to fit into the given cultural environment and to improve the identity of cultures living side by side. Beside the cultural diversity, the people of the European Union must pay more attention to the creation of active European citizenship, the discovery and improvement of the common cultural values.

During the youth exchange we would like to show for the youngsters living in Europe the importance of active European citizenship based on common values and respect of the diversity. However, it's extremely important to keep the countries specific culture in the integration and their contribution to the diversity. It's very important for the future generations to learn to discover and respect other cultures.

The participating countries will have more opportunities to present other countries traditional dance, folk song, food, art works, attractions and other important historical events. They will create a play about the selected historical event, and they will organize an exhibition from the art work made by them.

During the ten days of youth exchange six youngsters (5 participants and 1 leader) from six countries will participate (and share each other's cultural characteristics of this innovative technique).

The youth exchange place is in Levelek, Hungary. The camp facilities are perfect for the youth exchange.
