ABOUT THE PROJECT

What, Why, How

With volunteering individuals get incredible experience, learn about different know how and new skills. Anyway, in many cases, skills, gained through volunteering events and activities, not always decently accredited and recognised. Development of skills through volunteering can be utilised for improvement the employment rate of individuals or for personnel development, but this opportunity is scarcely used. Events and activities of non-governmental organisations usually stay on the engagement of volunteers and youngsters who wish to invest their time, passion and initiative.

When it is well managed, volunteering is a success for all involved stakeholders, including:
- volunteers gain soft and hard skills raising self-confidence and qualification for the labour market;
- non-governmental organisations gain support and extra achievements, which wouldn't be possible to get without the volunteers' loyalty;
- as well as local community benefits in many different ways related to the particular activities implemented by the volunteer.

THEREFORE, THE OBJECTIVES OF "THE SOUL OF YOUTH WORK" ARE TO:

- Conceptualise with the project partners their approaches to volunteering in their work context;
- Foster individual and organisational competences in planning, implementing, mentoring and evaluating local and international volunteering projects;
- Develop organisational solution for inclusion of young people in volunteering projects;
- Develop organisational schedule and strategy for the most indispensable moves in volunteering projects.
